Properties Cleared for Rebuilding

Final inspection reports have been submitted for 27 Los Angeles County properties participating in the Consolidated Debris Removal Program. The participating properties have been cleared of debris and erosion control measures have been installed, paving the way for property owners to move forward with rebuilding. They can now submit an application for a building permit from their local building official.

However, you don't have to wait for this final clearance to start your rebuilding process - contact your local building official today to learn more. Below is a list of building officials by jurisdiction.
